

How many watts of solar energy does a home use

Overview

How many solar panels do you need to power a house?

The goal for any solar project should be 100% electricity offset and maximum savings — not necessarily to cram as many panels on a roof as possible. So, the number of panels you need to power a house varies based on three main factors: In this article, we'll show you how to manually calculate how many panels you'll need to power your home.

How much power does a solar panel use?

Solar panel power ratings range from 250W to 450W. Based on solar.com sales data, 400W is the most popular power rating and provides a great balance of output and Price Per Watt (PPW). If you have limited roof space, you may consider a higher power rating to use fewer panels. If you want to spend less per panel, you may consider a lower wattage.

What is solar panel wattage?

Let's demystify it. What Does Solar Panel Wattage Mean?

Wattage refers to the amount of electrical power a solar panel can produce under standard test conditions (STC), which simulate a bright sunny day with optimal solar irradiance (1,000 W/m²), a cell temperature of 25°C, and clean panels.

How much energy does a 400 watt solar panel produce?

A 400-watt panel can generate roughly 1.6–2.5 kWh of energy per day, depending on local sunlight. To cover the average U.S. household's 900 kWh/month consumption, you typically need 12–18 panels. Output depends on sun hours, roof direction, panel technology, shading, temperature and age.
