Overview

What is the IEC standard for lightning protection?

The IEC standard for lightning protection refers mainly to the IEC 62305 series, a set of four documents that provide clear guidelines for lightning protection systems (LPS). These standards cover the risk assessment, design, installation, maintenance, and inspection of lightning protection measures. The four parts of IEC 62305 are:.

How should a lightning protection system be maintained?

An inspection and maintenance procedure is recommended, and may be conducted by the system installer, an authority. Keeping the lightning protection system up to date with current standards ensures the greatest level of safety. When a lightning protection system is upgraded, as-built drawings should be revised to document modifications.

What is a main size lightning conductor?

Main size lightning conductors shall be used for direct connection of grounded media and buried metallic conductors to the lightning protection system. A ground bar designed for interconnection of building grounded systems shall have one connection to the lightning protection system.

Can lightning protection system components be concealed in building construction?

176) Lightning protection system components may be concealed in building construction. A lightning protection system is a low resistance continuous metallic path designed for the purpose of transferring lightning from the top of a structure into the earth.
